Final Graduates of Air Plan
Will Become Civilian Reserve

OTTAWA, Nov. 10.—(CP)—The last aircrew graduate from the big Commonwealth Air Training Plan has gone overseas, but some 10,000 men now in the training stream will complete their courses and join those who have just graduated into a civilian air reserve, a usually well-informed source said last night.

Still Unclassified

A huge surplus of aircraft built up by the air plan that was gauged on higher casualties than has resulted has brought about this latest decision which follows reports the air force will be cut by a third Jan. 1 and the training plan agreement will not be extended beyond its March 31

Reinforcement Officers Weed Out H.Q. Men

OTTAWA, Nov. 10.—(CP)—Reinforcement officers today were making the rounds in national defense headquarters and army establishments throughout Canada carrying out Defence Minister MacNaughton's plan to send non-combatant staff to the reinforcement stream.

No official figures were available, but it has been estimated that 1,000 high category men will be found at 10,000 here and another 4,000 to 8,000 will be combed out of establishments in other parts of the country.

Besides this number it has been estimated that at least 3,000 combat troops can be re-mustered from home ordnance, service corps, engineering, artillery and armored corps establishments.

SOME NOW IN CAMP

AT NINING it was said that the first potential infantry reinforcements—the need for which was stressed Wednesday night by Prime Minister Mackenzie King—have already gone to training camps for refresher courses.

No one would estimate how long it would be before these troops would be on their way overseas, but one source said: "It shouldn't take longer than six weeks to get them back into shape—you must remember that they've all had the basic infantry course and some of them have been up to this in brief refresher courses."

He said that only in case of "extraordinary emergency" would the all-but combat potential be left on the job to await replacement. The remainder will be sent to refresher camps "almost immediately."

NO FIGURES YET

Another source said that while he could produce no resulting figures yet he understood there had been a marked increase in the number of draftees joining active since Gen. MacNaughton made his appeal at Winnipeg, Ont., last Sunday.

"I can't give you any figures but I can assure you if they are increased for this week over last week, they will show an increase for this week over last week," he said.

Following Mr. King's appeal Wednesday for volunteers, and the government's recognition of the public anxiety over this matter, it was understood defence headquarters officials were working on a plan by which the weekly recruiting figures will be issued. The plan hinges on security and it is expected a ruling will be given on this angle in a few days.

$400 Indemnities

For Saskatchewan Special Session

REGINA, Nov. 10.—(CP)—The Saskatchewan legislature yesterday gave second reading to a bill setting the members' indemnity for the special session which opened Oct. 19 at $400.

The indemnity allowable under the act is $2,000 for each session and the bill before the house, it was stated, would not mean a reduction in the $2,000 indemnity for the regular session next spring.

On the previous occasion in Saskatchewan when special sessions were held indemnities of $200 were granted. These special sessions were only of three days duration.

Churchill Says F.D.R., Congress V-2s Are Used Given Mandate Against Britain For Teamwork

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(CP)—President Roosevelt and Congress have given the British a mandate to use V-2s against Britain for teamwork.

Mr. Churchill said the rockets contained approximately the same quantity of explosive as the flying bomb, which caused heavy damage in London during the summer, but he expressed great confidence that the rockets would be used more deeply before exploding.

"We cannot be certain that the enemy will be able to increase the range of the rockets," he said. "There is, however, no need to exaggerate the danger," he said. "The scale of the attacks has not hitherto been significant."

Mr. Churchill described the rocket bomb as another attempt to use the enemy to alter the morale of the civil population.

DIFFERENT EFFECT

The rockets caused somewhat heavier damage in the immediate vicinity of the crater but rather less extensive blast around the neighborhood where they landed than the flying bombs, he said.

Defending the government's censorship until now of stories on the rocket bomb, Mr. Churchill declared, "The government have been confirmed in this view by the fact that only a few days ago the enemy made no mention of the weapon in communications."

Mr. Churchill said that the enemy made an official announcement of the use of the rocket bomb only after it had been used.

"I do not propose to comment on it," he said. "The government are in a position to give a full and complete account of the rocket bomb only after it has been used."

Baby Breaks Bank Reds Open Heavy Attacks On Two Fronts

MOSCOW, Nov. 10.—(BUP)—Soviet military dispatches reported today that Russian forces have opened a large-scale offensive on the East Prussian and Baltic fronts in an apparent prelude to a major offensive.

The Paris radio said Marshal Koutoulikov, K. Rokossovsky's army had mounted an offensive between Warsaw and Sandomierz, 110 miles from the Polish capital (from the south).

Semi-official reports said that the Russian army had broken the line on the northern front followed by a day published forecasts that Russia's winter offensive from the Tatra river, driving toward the Danube was about to begin.

High dispatches indicated that the Russian army had launched a major assault against 30 German divisions pinned against the Baltic coast.

At the opposite end of the front, the Russians had begun a new offensive from a 45-mile bridgehead on the western bank of the Tatra river, driving toward Budapest from the east while the Hungarians capital from the south.

Dispatches said the Soviets were attacking the German and Hungarian armies appeared to have been driven from the attempt to save Budapest.

Prairie Lumber Prices Low

The public will be pleased to have the assurance that lumber is being sold to the consumer through the retail lumber yards on the Prairies at lower prices than are available anywhere else in Canada, with the exception of British Columbia, the home of the lumber and sawmilling industry.

This information is disclosed in a survey made by the National Lumber Manufacturers Association, which was made by Sanford Evans Statistical Service. The survey took account of the end use of lumber and the normal flow through an average lumber yard. The survey also reveals that Prairie lumber prices are lower than in the neighboring home of lumber, British Columbia, and Montana by an average of better than ten per cent.

Variances of lumber are required today for direct war purposes, and to repair bomb damage, and the lumber industry is pleased to have the war draws to a close, more liberal supplies will be available to the home builder.

Crisis of Army Draft Growing More Confused

King, as "wholly cynical and unrealistic," "crystal clear that Mr. King has betrayed his trust and deceived both the army overseas and the people at home. It is more than evident now," declared Mr. Bracken, "that Mr. King never did intend to implement his undertakings (conscripting men necessary) given to parliament."

This same theme is stressed in numerous letters appearing in the eastern newspapers.

For example, a woman writer, Louise Davison of Westmount, Montreal (one of many), says that "nearly four years ago we voted on a plebiscite—that hoax to end all hoaxes, that rival of all Hitler's plebiscites in duplicity and double-crossing. Since that time it has not been acted upon in any way. In spite of a large affirmative vote . . . During the same time we have seen the Americans conscripted to fight 'anywhere.' The British army on nearly every front in the world; the Australian armed forces very much larger per capita than the Canadian. . . Our armed services have been magnificent but we are left to the teeth with a weak, cowardly government."

DEFENDED IN QUEBEC

Literally scores of letters of this type fill the eastern English language press. On the other hand, the Quebec French newspapers are firm in stating the government's position on conscription.

In short, the situation is reaching proportions of a national incident of a mere government cabinet crisis.

It is obvious from the language of General McNaughton and the Prime Minister himself that Canada has not yet reached the decisive point in this steaming withy-bone of national confusion and ill-feeling.

Military headquarters here are well aware that the October casualties resultant from the dreadful fighting on the flooded coast of Holland probably will exceed those of any month in the war. Both General McNaughton and the Prime Minister in their respective speeches have said that present reinforcements are adequate for the next few months which means probably until January and February.

DEPENDS ON DRIVE

But what happens then? Evidently, all depends on the success or failure of the big voluntary recruiting drive launched by General McNaughton and backed by the Prime Minister.

General McNaughton is proceeding vigorously to the task. Military defence headquarters last night announced release from home war establishments of all service personnel in categories fit for training for combat service. This will make available, however, only about another thousand men. Also, lower category men are being substituted as rapidly as possible on work projects which have been employing men returned from the home defence army.

WONT MEET NEEDS

Off the record, however, few military men here believe that this will do any more than keep reinforcements up to the 4,000 per month mark, until January or February. But the heavy September and October casualties with more heavy fighting now in sight may require more than 4,000 a month reinforcements.

Oversubscribe Loan Quota

Canadians employed at the U.S. Army Air Forces Edmonton air base have subscribed 125 per cent of their $45,000 quota. The Seventh Victory Loan campaign, sponsored by Col. Eugene Stevens, base commander, has been in charge of Capt. James P. Harvey and Warrant Officer Thomas. Pictured above is a group of committee workers who canvassed Canadian members. They are, from left, William R. Smith, Camille Dupre, Laura Saxton, Sgt. William Hay, Kathleen O'Brien, Walter Doherty and James McInnes.

This point is repeatedly emphasized in the Canadian Legion memorandum sent to the Prime Minister which alleges that artillery, RCAF and other specialized branches of the service are being stripped to provide reinforcements for the infantry; and that troops with inadequate infantry training are being sent to the front while troops in the front line are enduring abnormally long periods of service without corresponding days of rest.

The point at issue thus is whether within the next two or three months General McNaughton's theory that voluntary service is still adequate will prove correct. If it fails, and few military men here believe it will succeed, the real crisis will be upon Canada with a vengeance.

MAY MEAN ELECTION

No one questions the sincere determination of General McNaughton to press recruiting under the voluntary system to the very limit; it is merely a question whether he has overestimated the willingness of men hitherto shown to be unwilling. The final test thus is merely postponed until early in 1945—it may mean a general election on the issue.

In the interim, the Progressive Conservative press is loudly alleging that Mr. King's radio speech still failed to give all the reasons for Mr. Ralston's departure from the cabinet. The attack is now levelled on the subject of the correspondence which passed between the Prime Minister and Mr. Ralston.

The Prime Minister's office said yesterday that the correspondence was "not available for release at the moment" thus implying that it still is a chance it may be made public before parliament is summoned. Mr. Ralston has said publicly that he assumed Mr. King would inform the public of the circumstances of his resignation by

Dewey's Share of Popular Vote Is Highest For Loser Since 1916

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey came nearer to winning the presidential election, from a standpoint of popular vote, than any other defeated candidate since 1916, when final returns indicated yesterday.

President Roosevelt's margin was 2,980,000, with 45,265,579 votes reported. The President had 24,147,254. Mr. Dewey 21,138,285.

The late Wendell Willkie lost to Mr. Roosevelt in 1940 by a margin of 4,838,211, with a total popular vote of 8,813,517.

In 1916, Woodrow Wilson defeated Charles E. Hughes by only 591,265 votes.

Other intervening popular-vote margins:

1928—Warren G. Harding over James Cox, 7,000,000 plus.

1932—Calvin Coolidge over John W. Davis, 7,000,000 plus.

1936—Herbert Hoover over Al. Smith, 6,000,000 plus.

1932—Roosevelt over Hoover, 7,000,000 plus.

1936—Roosevelt over Alf M. Landon, 10,000,000 plus.

Urge Government Act on Manpower Mandate of 1942

adequately by sending overseas immediately the trained troops of the home defence army now in Canada.

"The prime minister laid before the delegation his reasons for wishing to continue a voluntary system of reinforcing the army overseas, and his reasons for not instituting conscription measures."

"No reasons not made public before were given. However, the end of an hour and 20 minutes of discussion, views of Legion members were unchanged."

ACT ON MANDATE

The Legion brief said the government should act on the mandate of the 1942 manpower plebiscite and use its authority to send all fully trained home defence army personnel overseas immediately as essential reinforcements.

The delegation, headed by Alex. Walker, Dominion president, said there was bitterness in Canada because of "a tragic waste of manpower when the issues of civilization are at stake."

The bitterness was found also among fighting men of the services overseas.

Reports from the front indicated that troops with inadequate infantry training were being sent to the front and those in the front lines had abnormally long periods of service without corresponding days of rest. The dangers of battle fatigue were mounting.

"All this is taking place despite the fact that we have some 70,000 trained and equipped soldiers in Canada who are performing no useful service," said the brief.

The plebiscite had relieved the government of any previous pledge not to impose conscription for overseas.

"At the time the responsible government heads, including the prime minister, gave us assurance that if the situation demanded it conscription for overseas service would be imposed," said the brief.

"We come now asking that promise be implemented because all information available to us indicates that it has become necessary."

Drive Near Liuchow

CHUNGKING, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The Japanese, redoubting their drive to wipe out Allied air power in South China, rolled up yesterday to within 15 miles of Liuchow—Chineses stronghold and railway centre in Kwangsi province—and steadily were encircling the city.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"When I want your advice, I'll ask you for it!"

tremendous majority who voted "yes" in the 1942 plebiscite.

What is needed, and needed now, is not rhetoric but trained reinforcements. The business of "reconstruction" has been over-done. Are we to be told at this hour that the new minister of national defence must take another trip overseas to find out what everybody knows and then have the cabinet give further "anxious consideration" to the problem for "many days"? The attitude of the government is now disclosed as wholly cynical and unrealistic.

TRUST BETRAYED

It is crystal clear that Mr. King has betrayed his trust and deceived both the army overseas and the people at home. It is more than evident now that he never did intend to implement his undertakings given to parliament.

The question is reducible to one simple proposition: Our army overseas is in dire need of trained reinforcements, in dire need of rest and help, and men must be sent to the remote extent available in Canada.

This is an immediate national duty. Having recognized the necessities of the situation, Col. Ralston gave the prime minister the first opportunity to inform the Canadian people. Mr. King has refused to release the information that Col. Ralston must have anticipated he would. In this, the gravest hour of the nation's history, the people will be eagerly awaiting Col. Ralston's statement.

I need not restate the long stand that the Progressive Conservative party has taken in regard to overseas reinforcements. Since I assumed leadership, we have repeatedly urged that these men be sent overseas to fill the gap which now is so tragically revealed. The past is past. The situation now far transcends any partisan politics. It is of deepest concern to every Canadian man and woman regardless of political creed.

Huge Surplus Of War Goods Will Be Sold

VANCOUVER, Nov. 10.—(CP)—The Vancouver Sun, in a newspaper story yesterday said:

Marking plans of the British Columbia Office of War Assets Corporation . . . form part of a Dominion-wide picture in which between three and four billions of dollars' worth of surplus materials and equipment will be made available to the public.

"Already across Canada the corporation is selling $10,000,000 worth of surplus materials, equipment and goods a month. At peak the volume may reach a monthly volume of $6,000,000."

be subject to military draft regulations.

Meanwhile, a large number of aircrew members on operational training overseas, who may never get a chance of taking part in active service, will be given first opportunity to join the Pacific expedition which will be raised on a volunteer basis and which may consist of about 15 squadrons, a source said.

He also said it was likely that the civilian reserve, if needed, also might be given a chance to volunteer for Pacific service.

DEMobilization Plan

Regarding the reported demobilization of a third of the force Jan. 1, it was recalled Maj. Power has already indicated that a "first-in, first-out" mustering-out principle would be followed. Navy Minister Macdonald has already supported this program for the Navy and Wednesday night Prime Minister Mackenzie King, in his reinforcement speech, indicated the plan would be general for all three services.

In connection with the Pacific plans, Air Vice Marshal L. F. Stevenson is home from the East Asia theatre with a report on needs and conditions there and planners are going ahead with preparation for the switch of effort to the Pacific which will follow the end of the war with Germany.

With a third of the air force going to the Pacific and a third being demobilized early in the new year, it was understood the remainder would be used in home establishments and also for European occupational duty with the possibility of some day being included in an international police force if one finally materializes.

A source said that a greatly modified Canadian plan would continue to the end of the war and into the peace to meet the needs of normal replacement and to keep at least a skeleton of training machinery active.

PRIVATE BUCK

McCoy Health Service

Someone with a good head for figuring once estimated that the human body contains enough iron to make a nail of medium size; enough iron (or calcium) to do a good job of whitewashing a chicken coop; enough phosphorus to burn matches; just about enough potassium to explode a cannon; enough manganese to provide a dose of magnesia; and enough sulphur to rid a yard of fleas. In addition there would be enough fat to make seven bars of soap and enough sugar to fill a bucket. All of these above counts are made up of twenty-two hundred matches; just about enough potassium to explode a cannon; enough manganese to provide a dose of magnesia; and enough sulphur to rid a yard of fleas.

Today's article will discuss the iron in the body. Even though there is only about enough iron to make a nail, nevertheless that amount is indispensable for health. Most people take it for granted they are getting enough iron in their food but this bit of common sense does not get quite as much iron as he needs. This is the reason why modern diet authorities say that if the average diet is lacking in iron, the body is not as healthy as it should be.

Iron is important in the fundamental function of forming healthy blood cells. These red cells are the great oxygen carriers within the organism and serve to carry the oxygen breathed in by the lungs to all of the various tissues where the real "breathing" of the body takes place.

Nutritional anemia, due to lack of iron in the diet, can be prevented and cured by the feeding of foods high in iron. Some of these foods are as follows: Eggs, yolk, lima beans, peas, whole wheat, meat, spinach, oatmeal, dried prunes, raisins and walnuts. The green leafy vegetables are especially good sources of iron and that is why anyone with a nutritional anemia should try to eat spinach, lettuce, and cabbage. Judged solely from the standpoint of its iron content, beef liver is very satisfactory.

The cheapest and most satisfactory way to secure the needed iron is to take it from food and a person using eggs, beefsteak and plenty of vegetables will probably get the iron he needs.

It is a good thing that is rated as iron-poor. Nature takes its toll in iron. During the nursing period when milk forms the staple food, the store is gradually depleted. The liver apparently supplies the iron found in the milk.

About two-thirds of the iron in the body is held within the red blood cells. It leaves only about one-third to be used elsewhere in the body for iron compounds. Small metal, as this amount is, it seems so essential to life, as these iron compounds have not been demonstrated to be present wherever the life changes are most active.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on the side of paper only. Address: McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1351 West 8th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Bucky O'Connor Remembered as Individual Star

By RED GRANGE

The Original Man-in-Motion

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Bucky O'Connor is remembered as the individual star, but it was a team effort for a touchdown that started Notre Dame to a smashing 24-0 victory over Southern California in Knute Rockne's last game played before the 30,000 persons in the Los Angeles Coliseum on Friday, December 9, 1930.

Although Notre Dame was unbeaten in two years, the campaigns, was seeking its 1930 straight, the Trojans O'Connor was so highly regarded that they were made famous. This was due in no small measure to the fact that Joe Savardi, Irish footballer, had been lured to the altar and lost to the team and Moon Mullins, another Irish footballer, was on the sideline with a bad leg.

Jackie had a lot of sympathy by saying that he would use the strategy at fullback if he could not get into the ball. O'Connor converted Paul O'Connor from a substitute right halfback to a fullback. Bucky O'Connor was a senior. Bucky O'Connor's name was mentioned before the big day.

TROJAN BACKS TIP HAND

Frank Cardozo pointed out of bounds on Southern California's 15 yard line in the opening period. Endy's play was directed at Bert Stanger, and when it was tried, Stanger's 100-pound guard had recovered fullback Jim Musick's fumble.

I do not need to call signals," recalls Cardozo. "The Southern California backs gave themselves away by coming in close behind the line to stop the running play they were expecting. The fumble had set from hitting mud. Years were starting in Musick's eyes.

We chided to the left, with Mary Brill receiving the ball and giving it to Marcy Schwartz on a spinner. Schwartz started for the weak side tackle, but drifted a little to give me a chance to run through a hole. I cut for the flat zone on a dead run, and took a pass from Schwartz. Musick's hands slipped off my back as I caught the ball, and I went across the goal line for the first touchdown.

O'CONNOR'S PAYOFF RUN

Several minutes later, Schwartz, Brill and Cardozo went over the left tackle position of Bob Hall, and O'Connor, the dark horse fullback, rode through the opening for 30 yards and the second touchdown as Trojans were taken out like trophies. That definitely was the ball game.

On a lateral from Schwartz early in the third period, O'Connor carried seven yards to the third touchdown.

The fourth touchdown was engineered in the last four minutes for second and third-string men following the interception of a pass. Lukas drove through a hole in the left side of the Trojan line that would have accommodated a truck. Many consider this final one Knute Rockne's greatest victory.

Atkinson Rides 3 Winners; Lifts Year's Total to 259

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(AP)—It will be a natural if Ted Atkinson finishes the racing season as the leading jockey. He's been in the saddle exactly seven years. Thursday he rode three winners to lift his year's total to 259 winners, higher than any title-winning total of the last seven years except for the 287 piled up by the late Earl Dew in 1940.

TONIGHT ...

Reach for this Source of Comfort

TONIGHT, when you read and re-read his letter till you know every word of it; tonight when he seems far away, turn for comfort and for courage to the Bible. Perhaps the Book is an old friend; or perhaps years have made it and you strangers. It doesn't matter—the steady eternal light of its message is there for you, ready to bring you the same confidence that it is bringing millions all over the world.

"Have I not commanded thee? Be strong and of good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed, for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest."

—Joshua, 1:9.

The amazing thing about Bible reading is that your reward will increase as the habit grows. Within its covers it treats of every problem that the Spirit of man has ever met or will ever meet. For countless generations, men and women have opened the Bible and have sought or found restoration of the Spirit, whether torn with anxiety and loneliness, oppressed by doubt, crushed with futility or stunned by bereavement.

The Bible is as old as truth; as new as tomorrow.

"Fear thou not; for I am with thee. Be not dismayed for I am thy God. I will strengthen thee; yea I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness."

Isaiah, 41:10.

And so, tonight, open your Bible. Join with millions of your fellow Canadians at home and overseas, in asking Divine help in the problems that face our country and all humanity in these crucial days.

Start your Bible reading with these Chapters and Verses:

Psalms 23, 91, 121; II Corinthians 13:11;
Matthew 5, 6, 7; Luke 2; Isaiah 2:4, 9; 6:
26; 3:55; II Samuel 22:31, 35; Proverbs 3:5, 6, 7; Deuteronomy 31:6; Ecclesiastes 12:13;
John 14; Ephesians 6:11, 6:16; Philippians
4:6, 7, 4:9; I Thessalonians 5:17; Romans
15:33, 16:20; Hebrews 13:20.

Canadian Author Adds Ninth Book to Popular Jalna Series

By ANITA FREDMAN
TORONTO, NOV. 10. — (CP) — Mazo de la Roche, who says the course of her stories is determined by the "mood of the day," has just written her ninth Jains book,
"The Building of Jains" (Macmillan). The author, who has rushed Hindi just north of Toronto, has been literary Guild selection committee member for 10 years.
Comment on the tremendous achievement of having kept thousands of readers hooked on the adventures of the last Whitehats over a period of 17 years is:

I just open the door of Jolene, close it behind me and see what's going on. Often they create an ending I never intended." The author of the novel, which is set in the 1950s, is credited with the finest extensive work on a family which the American continent has produced, never started as such.

I didn't intend writing one after the first, nor another one after the second. I intended to write a novel about the world after the bomb. After the ordeal of nazi

It hasn't been an intimacy with the author alone for the salty Whiteoak family is familiar to Scandinavian, Danish, German, French, Czechoslovakian, Hungarian and even Braille readers. The one of the first favors he did for me was to tell me that he had recalled that they had everything there, and threw everything they had at us. But our boys took it all and we went back with the inventory. The German had a vast lat. Paratroop Division there to stop us, but our boys fought them to a standstill and then swarmed in.

After Ortona, there was a call for volunteers for the landing below Rome. Private Ronneseth volunteered, and saw action on Returning to The Loyal Edmonton Regiment, he took part in the assault on the Hitler Line, which he described as being as terrific as that at Ortona, and with the regiment suffering just as heavy casualties. A shrapnel bullet terminated his service at the front.

Asked how long he thought the Germans would be able to hold out in Europe, he said "Probably next March or April; that is my feeling."

In addition to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thorvall Konneseth, he has two young brothers and sisters at home.

Here's Quick Relief from
SINUS PAIN

SINUS PAIN

ONE best way to get relief from torturing sinus pain is to clear congestion from nasal passages and give sinuses a chance to drain. A few drops of Vicks Vapo-rubol in each nostril is usually enough to bring this comforting relief.

3-Purpose Medicine . . . Va-tro-nol is so successful because it does three important things: (1) shrinks swollen membranes of the nose; (2) helps
